

Big ideas aren't limited to big companies.

Nites Walters spends his days in a traditional pirogue boat rather than a corporate office. But now that the company he works with has gained access to a global market, he's catching the benefits as well. He's one of 100 fishermen who supplies Tobago Wild, a local business that saw an opportunity to expand by exporting fresh Caribbean fish to some of the best restaurants in the United States. By using FedEx to secure reliable air capacity and facilitate customs and FDA clearance, Tobago Wild can deliver on its promise of hand-lined caught tuna from hook to kitchen in less than 36 hours. And fishermen like Walters can continue using eco-sustainable practices while doubling their sales in little more than a year and a half.

If you know of another business that is using FedEx to pursue an extraordinary idea, then we want to hear about it.
